13. Comment. The average daily volume of supply traffic during the period of observation amounted to 48 carloads which, compared to that of the preceding month, indicates no essential changes.

25X1

In detail, the following supply goods arrived:

25X1

Ammunition	14	carloads
Fuel	52	"
Large weapons	93	"
Armored scout cars	113	"
Motor vehicles	12	"
Small arms and equipment	6	"
Engineer equipment	120	"
Tank spare parts	63	"
Signal equipment	31	"
Motor vehicle spare parts	28	"
Food ration supply	636	"
Articles of clothing	57	"
Air force equipment	27	"
Unidentified	126	"

25X1

Total 1,378 carloads

The volume of ammunition supply was unusually small. The large volume of large arms, armored scout cars and engineer equipment is of interest. These shipments may either serve as supplementary equipment or may represent exchange materiel. The food ration supply from the USSR amounted to 12 days' requirements, not counting supplementary food such as potatoes and fresh vegetable.
